Theresa Nyowheoma - MS LIS with BA in History - BYOB - 10/15/2016

Festival Hall (Emil Boehl, 1904)

Igorot Street artificial city (Jessie Tarbox Beals, 1904)

St. Louis World's Fair and Human Zoos

Ainu man carving wood (unknown photographer, 1904)

Bagobo musicians from Mindanao, The Phillipines (Beals, 1904)

What is more authentic than the real, living person?

- Seven month event encompassing circuses, sporting events, war re-enactments and more
- Human zoos were set up across the fairgrounds, based on colonial associations
- Display of new technologies (electricity, photography) vs. display of colonized & subjugated peoples
- Use of art and curation for nation building

How do decisions on what to exhibit reinforce power?

Sources:

1. Missouri Historical Society on "The 1904 World's Fair"
2. Christ, C.A. (2000). "The Sole Guardians of the Art Inheritance of Asia": Japan at the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair